A Colossal Work Completed

KNIGHT'S

AMERICAN MECHANICAL DICTIONARY

Published by

Lick Township-James A. Aleshire, David HURD & HOUGHTON, 13 Astor Place, N. Y. wis, Ambrose Scott. H. O. HOUGHTON & CCMPANY, Boston : THE RIVERSIDE PRESS, Cambridge.

[From the Scientific American.]

The completion of Knight's" American Mechan ical Dictionary" is an event in the annals of literature in this country, as it marks the substantial pletion of a great and elaborate undertaking, the labor on which has extended over a period of eight years. It is difficult to realize how colossal is the task involved in the proparation of a work of this description. Thousands of patents, American and foreign, have been digested, industrial processes of every nature have been examined, and the latest improvements therein noted. Engineer ing works, scientific discoveries, and tools of every craft have been studied; and finally, all this im-mense collection, gathered from the whole field of applied science, has been subjected to careful revision and condensation, and, by means of ingenious ly contrived systems of indexing, rendered invaluable for purposes of reference and research. Add to this the labors of artist and engraver, and there is little food for marvel that the work has cost $100,000; that it treats of 20,000 subjects; contains 7,400 engravings; and that its three volumes include 2,800 pages. It is more an encyclopædia than a dictionary; it is, in fact, a mechanical and scientific library, carried up to the latest dates. A estimate of the comprehensive nature of the work, and its importance to inventors, engineers,

The scope of this work concerns Agricultural Machinery, Wood, Metal. Glass, Stone, Clay, Cement, and Leather Working; Mining, Hydraulie, Rallway, Marine, and Military Englneering; Working in Cotton, Wood, Silk, Flax, Hemp, and Paper; Steam, Air, and Gas Engines, and other Motors; Lighting, Heating, Drying, and Ventilating; Fine Arts; Photographic, Electric, Telegraphic, Optical, Horo-logical, Calculating, Surgical, and Dental Ina similar nature, would be very great on account of its scope, its great number of illustrations, and the trustworthiness of its author; out at present its value is enhanced by the fact that it has, properly speaking, no competitor. There is published no book of similar intent which is at once so large, so well illustrated, so closely brought down to the present time, and so full of illustrations. Dentists, surgeons, philosophers, chemists, engineers, mechanics, and scientific men and students of every grade, will find here described and illustrated more of the instruments and machines peculiar to their professions than can be found in well-furnished tores and manufactories; and they will also find a constant supplementary course of instruction so arranged as to be available for instant reference. The work consists of three handsome octavo volumes, and will be found an invaluable book of reference in the family, better educational work could be placed before children, adapted as it is to awaken a latent taste which may have an important bearing The work is sold by subscription, and persons lesiring to purchase it should address the Pubishers as below. Agents wanted, Send for full descriptive circular with terms to Agents.
